

Wooden sauna products

Wooden sauna utensils and steam buckets are subjected to severe swelling and drying stress during use. Therefore, some of our products are equipped with a separate protective container or have been pre-treated with natural oil and preservative.

However, some of the products are completely unprocessed.

For these, we recommend treating paraffin oil according to the following instructions:

- The oil and the object to be oiled are heated in an oven or sauna at 50°C.
- The oil is applied to the object twice.
- Dry in the same heat for 15-30 minutes.

The following points should be taken into account when using a wooden sauna vessel:

- Keep water in the container only during use
- Keep the empty container in a cool place
- Do not leave the wooden bucket in water after use
- Under the oiled object, use a tablecloth on the benches
